PART ONE

The woman and the crown

Who Elle Trivia Muhoza is, where she comes from, and why the platform she chose was never going to be decorative.

A crown that was always meant to work

Origin, education, and the personal roots of the advocacy

Elle Trivia Muhoza was born in 2003 and raised in Central Uganda, with her family story rooted in Bukomansimbi District — her father from Bukomansimbi, her mother from Lwengo. She has spoken openly about growing up in a low-income community, and about the distance between that childhood and the platform she now holds.

She graduated from the Uganda Aviation Academy as the best student of her 2024 class, with meritorious recognition from the International Air Transport Association. She is the founder and chief executive of Elle Lip Care, a Ugandan beauty brand.

Her advocacy is not an accessory to the title. Before the crown, her charitable work ran under EMU — Empowering Mothers in Uganda — supporting teenage and single mothers, many of them survivors of sexual and gender-based violence. In 2019, alongside Tracy Mutoni and Umar.A, she co-founded the Fairfield Charity Foundation.

That sequence matters. Elle did not acquire a cause on winning a pageant; she brought a six-year-old institution onto a national stage.

IN HER OWN WORDS

"Many communities, especially slums, live at a low standard. It's where I was raised, and I call upon other organisations to join hands and help such communities."

Peace in the home is peace in the nation

The Beauty With a Purpose case, in Elle's framing

On the night she was crowned, Elle merged the platform with Fairfield and launched the Elle Cares Initiative. It was her first official act as Miss Uganda — a deliberate move to place the reign inside an existing structure with financial accountability, rather than to build a campaign from scratch.

Her Beauty With a Purpose platform is the prevention of gender-based violence. The argument she makes is structural: violence is rarely an isolated act. It grows out of untreated trauma, addiction, economic entrapment, hopelessness and generational pain carried inside homes. Treating it only as a protection issue treats the symptom.

So Fairfield addresses it as a human development problem — emotional healing, nutrition, education, men as allies, and above all women's economic independence, because a woman without financial agency cannot safely leave.

"A world at war with its feminine, and a nation at war with its women, cannot be at peace with itself. Domestic violence is not a private issue; it is a public crisis that dismantles our future before it can begin."

ELLE TRIVIA MUHOZA

THE THREE POINTS OF INTERVENTION

- The survivor — dignity, shelter, and a route to income.
- The perpetrator — emotional literacy, accountability, non-violent leadership.
- The community — dialogue in ordinary spaces, so the subject stops being private.

WHY IT TRAVELS

Uganda has taken the Beauty With a Purpose Africa award in two consecutive years — Hannah Karema Tumukunde in 2024 and Natasha Nyonyozi in 2025. Elle inherits that momentum and a national audience already primed for the

Fairfield Charity Foundation

Founded 2019 • 8th Floor, Arie Towers, Nakasero, Kampala

Fairfield was founded in 2019 by Tracy Mutoni, Umar.A and Elle Trivia Muhoza on a single observation: the problems facing Ugandan communities are connected, so the response has to be connected too. A hungry child cannot learn. A traumatised mother cannot work. A divided community cannot flourish.

The foundation's stated ambition is for charity to make itself obsolete — to build self-sustaining local economies and resilient mindsets rather than dependency. Its name is its thesis: a fair field, where the conditions for human potential are restored rather than the symptoms of their absence managed.

VISION

To engineer a compassionate society where love leads, hope is structurally restored, and every person has the tools to live a dignified life.

MISSION

To restore the conditions required for human potential through community healing, education, wellness, active living, women's empowerment and sustainable development systems.

STRATEGY • LOCAL ACTION, GLOBAL IMPACT

Fairfield does not fund temporary fixes. It funds interventions that leave a system behind — a dispenser that keeps dispensing, a cooperative that keeps trading, a dialogue group that keeps meeting after the cameras leave.

Elle Cares

Launched 20 September 2025 — the reign's operating arm

Elle Cares is the initiative through which the Miss Uganda platform is converted into field activity. It sits inside Fairfield, using the foundation's coordination, logistics and financial transparency structures, and carries the work into communities under a name the public recognises.

Its focus areas are the ones Elle has held since before the crown:

- empowering vulnerable and single mothers
- supporting girls and families in underserved communities
- education and emotional wellbeing
- period dignity and preventive health
- restoring hope through consistent physical presence

Elle Cares was not announced as a promise for later. It was founded on the night of the crowning, which is why the record that follows begins on day one.

Free visual learning for people who need to see the idea

Musomesa — the teacher in Luganda — is the learning doorway of Elle Cares: a searchable library of free resources, open-source systems and micro apps that explain complex topics visually for students, founders, graduates and self-taught learners.

Visual Strategy Maps

Business, science and civic topics turned into step-by-step diagrams.

SEED RESOURCE

Open Knowledge Atlas

Free open-source sites and explainers, organised by subject and learner level.

SEED RESOURCE

Micro App Studio

Small visual tools for money, nutrition, agriculture, AI, coding and careers.

PLANNED

Opportunity Pathways

A route map from basic literacy to portfolios and market-ready work.

PLANNED

Who does the work

Leadership, coordination, and the volunteers who carry the days

Tracy Mutoni

CO-FOUNDER & DIRECTOR

Strategic and operational lead. Shaped Fairfield into a systems-focused foundation across emotional wellbeing, women's empowerment, education, nutrition and community resilience.

"Healthy families create healthy nations."

Umar.A

CO-FOUNDER & INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Leads international engagement and partnership strategy, bridging communities, institutions, private-sector stakeholders and development networks. Background in political science and cross-cultural engagement.

"Development becomes sustainable when communities are connected to opportunity."

Mutoni Dorothy

ADMINISTRATIVE & FINANCIAL COORDINATOR

Oversees financial administration and operational coordination, holding the accountability and transparency systems that let community projects run responsibly.

"Trust is built through transparency and stewardship."

VOLUNTEERS

- Mugabekazi Brenda
- Micho.A
- Nakawunde Elizabeth
- Lauryl Akankunda
- Angelina Karungi
- Shamilah Nakaweesa
- Holla Mariam
- Muhoza Ninah
- Tricia Mutesi
- Queen Latifah

Fairfield also names its volunteers in its own portfolio — a small choice that says something about how the foundation regards the people who show up.

How Fairfield thinks

Six connected pillars, and the argument that they only work together.

4

Y - INDIA - UGANDA - CHILE -

ITALY - VIETNAM - AUSTRALIA

One community, seen as a whole

Six connected areas of work — each addressing a different pressure on family life

01 Community healing & family stability

Dialogue, emotional wellbeing, non-violent leadership and practical support, so families address conflict before it becomes crisis.

02 Education & digital access

School support, visual learning, open resources and skills pathways give young people a fairer start regardless of background.

03 Period dignity & preventive health

Sanitary product access, nutrition awareness, blood drives, active living and locally relevant health education protect participation and confidence.

04 Women's economic dignity

Entrepreneurship, value addition, cooperatives, financial literacy and market access help women move from economic entrapment toward ownership.

05 Men as allies

HeForShe and Men for Change sessions connect responsible masculinity, healthy conflict resolution, empathy and violence prevention.

06 Sustainable community action

Working through local leaders, volunteers, schools, health partners and businesses so each intervention keeps serving people after the event ends.

Because the problems are interconnected, the solutions must be interconnected. That is the whole of the Fairfield principle, and the reason the projects on the following pages look like a single argument rather than a list of good deeds.

Period poverty, education, and the Bukomansimbi homecoming

Bukomansimbi Homecoming

ONGOING • BUKOMANSIMBI DISTRICT

Elle's return to her family's home district was built around practical action rather than ceremony: community outreach, educational support at Malungu Primary School, and work to strengthen the learning environment for children. It is the project that gives the reign its emotional spine — a queen who went back and built something.

PARTNERS • HSF INTERNATIONAL • SECRET'S PAD • WANDAZ • FAIRFIELD

Period poverty intervention

WITH THE HOMECOMING

Understanding that keeping girls in school takes more than buildings, a targeted period-poverty intervention ran alongside the visit. Through Secret's Pad, girls received sanitary supplies so that no child in Bukomansimbi misses school because of her natural cycle.

PARTNERS • SECRET'S PAD

Cleanette Uganda

NOVEMBER 2025 • HOTEL AFRICANA, KAMPALA

Uganda's first sanitary pad dispenser and vending machine programme, launched with the Miss Uganda Foundation and Falz Limited. It moves past hand-outs into permanent infrastructure: a free, manually operated, electricity-free dispenser designed for rural schools, hospitals and shelters; and a compact coin-operated vending machine for offices, malls and transit hubs. Because the hardware needs no electricity and takes local currency, the model is designed to scale across the continent.

PARTNERS • MISS UGANDA FOUNDATION • FALZ LIMITED

Reaching the districts

Menstrual health, youth dialogue, and outreach that returns

Kabale & Rubanda menstrual health mission

MAY 2026 • WESTERN UGANDA

A nationwide Beauty With a Purpose project taken into villages including Rwemihanga, Kiruruma and Nyakihanda. More than 200 girls received reusable sanitary pads directly, while many more joined open discussions on menstrual hygiene, confidence and self-care. Working with The Wells of Life, sessions included demonstrations on the proper use of reusable products, aimed squarely at breaking long-standing taboos. At Kahungye Primary School and other community centres, the emphasis was on keeping girls in school by letting them manage their health safely and with dignity. The mission closed with visits to local support services and further donations.

PARTNERS • THE WELLS OF LIFE

Mbikko youth sessions

29 APRIL 2026 • MBIKKO, NAKIBIZZI

Time spent with young girls in open discussion on the pressures shaping their daily lives — access to education, personal development and societal expectation. Participants shared their own experiences of limited opportunity; Elle and her team responded with guidance and practical advice centred on self-worth and confidence. The aim is a safe space where young people are actually heard.

PARTNERS • ELLE CARES

Katanga outreach

DECEMBER 2025 AND JANUARY 2026 • KAWEMPE DIVISION

Two visits to Katanga, Busia Zone. The Christmas outreach with Faith Life Church delivered food, clothing, shoes, sanitary products and household essentials, with a hot meal before the festive season and drinks sponsored by Pepsi Cola, under the church's Rewards for Education initiative. Elle returned in the new year to sit with families again — the same community twice, which is the part that counts.

PARTNERS • FAITH LIFE CHURCH • PEPSI COLA • FAIRFIELD

Men, mobilisation and the city

Prevention work, community fundraising, and civic action

Men for Change & HeForShe sessions

ONGOING • COMMUNITY SPACES

Fairfield's position is that violence prevention fails if men are absent from it. Working with youth leaders, athletes, wellness advocates and community organisations, the sessions use sport, fitness, movement and open dialogue rather than blame — covering emotional intelligence, healthy conflict resolution, responsible masculinity, family leadership, and the plain economic benefit of a peaceful home. The goal is to shift harmful cultural belief and recruit men as advocates for peace in their own neighbourhoods.

PARTNERS • YOUTH LEADERS • ATHLETES • COMMUNITY ORGANISATIONS

The Umoja Women's Run

14 FEBRUARY 2026 • KAMPALA

As international donor funding for gender-based violence shelters contracted, safe spaces for women began closing. Fairfield led a mass mobilisation — Run for Shelter — to crowd-fund their survival locally. Rallying Ugandans to fund their own shelters replaced dependency with community ownership, and made the point that the safety of mothers and daughters is a national responsibility rather than a donor line item.

PARTNERS • FAIRFIELD • COMMUNITY PARTNERS

Clean & Green Streets Campaign

3 MARCH 2026 • DOWNTOWN KAMPALA

Alongside KCCA, city leaders, volunteers and residents: street sweeping, waste clearance, tree planting and fresh grass laid from Nasser Road to Luwum Street and surrounding areas — sanitation, environmental responsibility and civic pride in one campaign.

PARTNERS • KAMPALA CAPITAL CITY AUTHORITY

School tour, Girls Summit & blood drive

OCTOBER 2025 ONWARD • NATIONWIDE

A countrywide school tour turned the reign into a travelling classroom on discipline, confidence and self-belief. In December, participation in the 8th National Girls Summit under the theme The Cost of Inaction put child marriage and teenage pregnancy on the national agenda. Fairfield has also taken part in community blood drives.

Livelihoods, nutrition and learning

The programmes Fairfield is building next

Women, work and economic dignity

PROGRAMME AREA

Economic entrapment is the single biggest barrier preventing women from leaving abusive environments; without financial agency, choice narrows and safety is compromised. Fairfield's work here covers entrepreneurship and livelihoods, value addition, skills development, cooperative structures, financial literacy and market access. The specific target is the gap between the share of agricultural labour Ugandan women provide and the fraction of the income they control — addressed through processing, branding, market access and transparent cooperative governance.

PARTNERS • LOCAL TRAINING FACILITATORS • COMMUNITY COOPERATIVES

Healthy food systems

PROGRAMME AREA

Fairfield treats food security as a human development issue rather than an agricultural one: better nutrition improves child development, mental and physical wellbeing, school performance and economic resilience. The work supports nutrition awareness, women's economic participation, cooperative development and sustainable livelihoods — moving communities from survival to sustainability, dependence to ownership.

PARTNERS • COMMUNITY COOPERATIVES

Nutrition and cognitive development

RESEARCH-LED PRIORITY

Over 70% of Uganda's population is under 30. Against shifting diets, rising availability of ultra-processed food and limited nutrition education, Fairfield's preventive approach is grounded in the evidence that nutritional deficiency impairs cognitive development and academic achievement — and that children in high-stress environments need nutrient-dense food more, not less, because an under-fed brain prioritises survival over learning.

PARTNERS • WHO COUNTRY DATA • UNICEF • NATIONAL EDUCATION RESEARCH

Musomesa

What has been counted so far

Verified figures in gold. Items marked TO CONFIRM are pending internal reconciliation.

TO CONFIRM BEFORE PUBLICATION

- Children whose school fees Fairfield currently pays — the figure you are confirming
- Total girls reached with menstrual health education and products, all missions combined
- Cleanette dispensers and vending machines installed, and locations
- Schools visited on the countrywide school tour, and total learners addressed
- Funds raised by the Umoja Women's Run, and shelters kept open as a result
- Families supported in the Katanga outreaches (December 2025 and January 2026)
- Women enrolled in economic empowerment and cooperative training
- Blood drive donations collected
- Trees planted in the Clean & Green Streets campaign

A profile of this kind is judged on whether its numbers survive scrutiny. Every figure above the line is traceable to a dated, published source. Nothing has been estimated upward to fill a gap.

Uganda goes to Vietnam with momentum. Quiin Abenakyo reached the Top 5 and took Miss World Africa in 2018. Hannah Karema Tumukunde won the Beauty With a Purpose award for Africa and reached the Top 8 in 2024. Natasha Nyonyozi took the African Beauty With a Purpose award for a second consecutive year in 2025.

Elle carries that record forward with something few delegates bring: a registered foundation that predates her reign by six years, a dated field record across at least eight districts and communities, and named partners in industry, faith, civic government and international development. The Beauty With a Purpose case is already built. What remains is scale.

We are not asking for donations. We are offering a partnership.

Fairfield offers partners a route into community-driven impact across education, health, dignity and women's empowerment in Uganda — with brand alignment to a credible, community-rooted foundation, visibility through verified activity, and a direct line to grassroots delivery.

WAYS TO WORK TOGETHER

- Sponsorship of a named programme or mission
- In-kind support — products, logistics, technical services
- Collaborative programming with your own foundation or CSR team
- School fees sponsorship for children already in the Fairfield pipeline
- Cleanette dispenser placement in your premises or catchment
